KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

KELLY MCKINNEY

Kelly McKinney is one of America's foremost experts on disasters. He had a leadership role in every major disaster in New York City for nearly fifteen years, from the aftermath of the 9/11 attacks to the present. As Deputy Commissioner at the New York City Office of Emergency Management, he led the city's response to Hurricane Sandy.

As Chief Disaster Officer for the American Red Cross he has rushed to the aid of the victims of train crashes and building collapses, most notably the March 2014 Con Edison gas explosion on 125th Street in Harlem.

Nationally known for his writing and speaking on the principles and practice of disaster management, he has recently published his book, 'Moment of Truth - The nature of catastrophes and how to prepare for them'.

PATRICK CAIRNS

Patrick Cairns was commissioned into the Royal Military Police (RMP) in 1986. A career Army Officer he has served around the world in a variety of roles as a Commander, a Staff Officer and a trainer, and has served on operations in Northern Ireland, the Former Yugoslavia, Iraq and Afghanistan.

He concluded his career as the Deputy Chief Officer of the RMP in the rank of COLONEL, where he was responsible for the oversight, direction and policy of all complex and serious crime and investigations within the military.

He was appointed Chief Executive of the Police Treatment Centres and St George's Police Children's Trust in June 2014 after taking early retirement from the Army.

SUSAN PASCOE A.M.

Susan Pascoe is an Adjunct Professor at the University of Western Australia. She is President and Chair of the Australian Council for International Development (ACFID), Chair of the Community Director's Council and a member of the Australian Institute of Company Directors NFP Chairs' Forum.

Ms Pascoe was Commissioner of the State Services Authority in Victoria where she chaired reviews into regulatory matters. She was appointed in 2009 as one of three Commissioners for the Royal Commission into Victoria's Black Saturday Bushfires.

PHIL SHEPHERD

For more than a decade, Phil has been designing and delivering innovative and transformative leadership development programs, bespoke workshops and forums. Phil was previously Director of Leadership Practice at the Australian Institute of Police Management, delivering a range of leadership programs for senior and executive police, emergency services and government personnel.

During his 26-years with Victoria Police, his diverse experience included homicide investigation, managing busy inner suburban police stations, working as a District Inspector, managing the Victoria Police Media Unit and helping to establish the 'Airlie' Leadership Development Centre.

The Emergency Management sector must equip its workforce to meet the needs and expectations of the modern community it serves. It is not enough to train staff in preparedness, response and recovery techniques. All ESOs, government and NGO response and recovery agencies are striving to ensure their workers safety, health and security. This will enable them to better provide safety, health and security for our community.

MESSAGE FROM THE ESF CHAIRMAN

The Emergency Management Conference (EMC) is the annual gathering for emergency management professionals from Police, Emergency Services and Recovery Organisations, local, state and federal governments, community groups and industry.

With 500 or more delegates attending each year, EMC is also one of the biggest events of its type.

The Emergency Services Foundation was established following the Ash Wednesday fires in 1983. It operates as a trust to provide immediate support to the families of emergency service personnel killed or injured in the line of duty. The Foundation also provides educational scholarships to EM volunteers and career staff and conducts support activities such as the EMC conference to increase the understanding of the key issues that challenge emergency service personnel.

I am sure that delegates will be delighted with the quality of the speakers, and the breadth of topics being presented. There will also be a substantial trade expo showcasing the latest in equipment and services for emergency services.

I am looking forward to EMC, and hope to see you at the Pullman Albert Park, Melbourne in May 2019.
